Project Description

This project is a personal website designated to showcase an overview of my life's journey such as education, experiences, skills, passions and my interests. The website is implemented to include a way of allowing users to contact me if it somehow ignites their interest.. This project was created using html, CSS(Grid, Flex), and JavaScript, with the intention to provide the visitors an engaging and interactive experience.
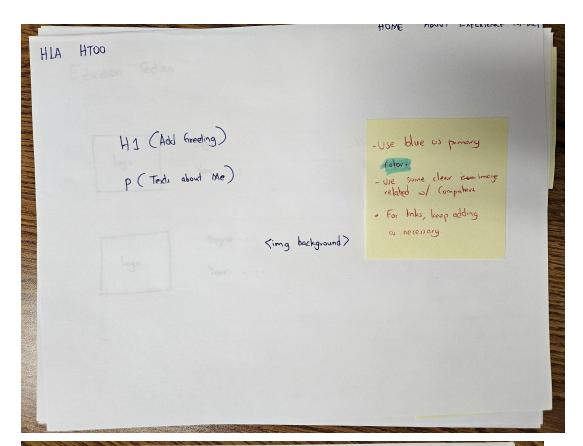

User Personas

1. Peers/Colleagues : curiosity / to learn more about me
2. Hiring Managers/Recruiters: to inquire if I am a great fit for the position. Gather information about my achievements and past experiences efficiently.
3. Clients: to hire/ to inquire about the implementation of the project they have in mind. Interested in learning more about Hla's capabilities for the potential project.

User stories
1. As a colleague, I would love to know more about Hla, such as his interests and passions. I would like to learn if we can get along or are like-minded with common interests. I want to take a look at the projects that he has worked on to gain inspiration or insights for my own projects.
2. As a recruiter, I have a limited time to evaluate each individual. I would like to learn about his achievements and past experiences in a short time frame. It would be that the website is not too crammed with numerous lines of texts. Then, I will decide if going with Hla would be a good choice for the company.
3. As a client, I am considering hiring a web developer for a potential project. I want to see the showcase of his projects, skills, and experiences concisely. Depending on his capabilities, I will be able to determine if he will be the right fit for my needs.
